APPLICATIONS

CIMCLEAN MA322 is a liquid detergent and corrosion inhibitor formulated specifically for use in cleaning polished machined steel parts. Designed for use in high pressure spray washers on camshaft and crankshaft lines, CIMCLEAN MA322 leaves no solid residues which can interfere with electronic gauging operations and no water spots which can interfere with visual checks. The evaporation residue from CIMCLEAN MA322 is a clear, mobile liquid.

FEATURES & BENEFITS

CIMCLEAN MA322 is normally used in high pressure spray washers at ambient temperatures at a concentration of 2% to 3% by volume. Under these conditions, CIMCLEAN MA322 will readily remove coolants and machining and honing oils, and will not foam. Solutions of CIMCLEAN MA322 reject oil, leading to enhanced washer cleanliness and extended solution life. Adequate rust protection for normal in-plant storage and processing is provided. CIMCLEAN MA322 can be used at elevated temperatures and higher concentrations if necessary for enhanced cleaning and corrosion protection.

CIMCLEAN MA322 is formulated from organic soaps and is prepared using deionized water. It contains no phosphates or other inorganic salts, and contains no chelating agents, including EDTA, or dyes which can interfere with waste treatment. It contains no nonionic surfactants or solvents, and is readily waste-treatable.
